

Smoothing strategies for signal reconstruction problem

Jein-Shan Chen

Department of Mathematics, National Taiwan Normal University

Abstract

In this talk, we present a few smoothing strategies for dealing with signal reconstruction problem. More specifically, in light of some smoothing functions, we build up a few models to approximate the signal reconstruction problem. Numerical experiments and comparisons suggest some nice smoothing functions and efficient approaches.

Keywords: Smoothing function, signal reconstruction